elcome to the Joseph Joseph Spring 2013 Product Collection. This season sees the launch of a host of new designs and key product updates that promise to cement the brand's reputation for creating innovative, contemporary kitchenware.

Taking its cue from the season of renewal, the Utility category is renamed as Cleaning & Organisation to better reflect the diversity of these products and to encompass a significant launch of new designs that will make this one of the brand's most comprehensive ranges so far. Joseph Joseph's commitment in this category is in recognition of its success in this area already and the confidence in these new products. Highlights include a striking soap pump design with hygienic benefits over conventional soap dispensers and an easy-tear kitchen roll holder.

Kitchen tools continue to inspire practical, stylish solutions with new products in the Elevate™ and Scoop™ ranges, alongside a brand new folding herb chopper design which deals neatly with the problem of storing sharp blades in kitchen drawers.

The demands of efficient food preparation and serving are equally well met with several new products that look and function beautifully, either in the kitchen or on the table, and then store conveniently away. As ever, Joseph Joseph's chopping board designs set the bar for this category blending impeccable style with highly practical features.

Varied as all these designs are, they go a long way in defining and reinforcing what makes Joseph Joseph's products so appealing – strong functional benefits, outstanding design and superior quality and value.

It has been an exciting twelve months for the brand, with a range of major product launches and its continued expansion around the world. This has culminated in Joseph Joseph's products now being available in 82 markets worldwide and the company being awarded several national and international awards for innovation and business.

Founded in 2003 by twin brothers Antony and Richard Joseph, the company comprises a team of highly skilled and passionate individuals on both sides of the Atlantic. Their unique ability to match form and function with a playful sense of style and colour, continues to earn the brand global recognition, industry awards and a place in the Sunday Times Fast Track 100 - the definitive list of the UK's fastest growing companies. They were also recently awarded the prestigious Ernst and Young Entrepreneur of the Year Award for Innovation and proudly accepted this on behalf of their team.

Cleaning & Organisation

Following on from the success of their recent Utility range, this season Joseph Joseph launch an even larger range of co-ordinated utility products under this new category. Household chores such as washing up, wiping spills and organising drawers, are made much easier and more convenient with a range of carefully designed products. Hand washing too receives attention with a striking new soap dispenser design that blends distinctive styling with improved functionality. Cleaning and organisation has never looked so good or worked so well and what better time to focus on these things than Spring.

Wash&Drain™ Dishwashing bowl with straining plug

Designed by Morph
Design registered

This basic piece of kitchen equipment is given a stylish and practical update with this smart, thoughtful design. It has an integrated plug which means water can be quickly drained away, eliminating the problem of lifting and emptying a heavy bowl. The plug can also be set to strain the water for food particles, allowing them to be easily disposed of and helping to prevent sink blockages.

Its steep sides help keep water and soapsuds safely inside and large carry handles mean it can be easily carried, if required. Perfect for use in the sink or for washing dishes anywhere.

Hand wash only.

Simply twist plug to drain or strain water

Designed by Studio17 Design

This clever, reversible design allows you to drain the washing up virtually anywhere and is perfect for creating additional draining space when required. Both sides of the board have sloping ribs that prevent water being trapped in the mouths of upturned cups and bowls. On one side an integrated spout allows water to be drained directly into the sink, but when the board is flipped the design captures the excess water, trapping it at the opposite end for draining later. Non-slip feet on both sides keep the unit firmly in place on the work surface.

Its distinctive, concentric design and sloping base prevent water being trapped in the mouths of upturned cups and bowls and help direct water to the central channel, from where it can be easily drained.

By simply picking up the corners either side of the central channel, the mat will naturally fold, allowing water to be accurately poured away.

Its self-adjusting mechanism fits a variety of kitchen roll sizes and ensures the roll is always held securely in place no matter how many sheets are left. The top of the tearing blade also provides a convenient carrying point, so the unit can be easily transported to wherever paper towels are required.

CookBook™ Compact folding bookstand

Designed by Damian Evans with Bernard Sinclair
Design registered

The problem with most bookstands is their bulky size and awkward shape, which takes up valuable space when not in use. The unique design of CookBook™ avoids this, as it opens and folds exactly like a book, which means it can be stored neatly on a bookshelf until required. When opened, the bookrests, page holders and back stand automatically fold out, providing solid, angled support for most sizes of book or even an electronic tablet device. A non-slip foot at the base of the spine keeps the unit safely in place on the work surface during use. When closed, CookBook™ folds flat, becoming no thicker than an average-sized book (approx. 20mm). Made from high-quality ABS plastic, CookBook™ is also tough and easy to clean.

Kitchen to Table

Making a design statement in the kitchen or on the dining table usually means compromising on a product's functionality. Not so with Joseph Joseph where a product's ultimate use is considered inherent in its design. Nowhere is this more evident than in the launch of several new products in this category for Spring. The smooth, tactile quality of the new Ovi™ range makes them difficult to put down and belies their innate benefit – cleaner storage of salt and pepper. And Duo™ cheese knives succeed in creating a single, satisfying object from the combination of two elements – joining together in a safe and compact design.

Ovi™ Salt & pepper pinch pots with closable lids

Designed by Mikaela Dörfel
Design registered

The ultra-smooth, pebble-like shape of these pinch pots make them extremely tactile and a stylish addition to the table. Their closable design not only looks great but also prevents any contamination of salt and pepper when not in use. Simply twist the top half of each pot to reveal a large aperture, allowing easy access for fingers.

The design comes with its own matching coaster, to keep both pots neatly organised on the table, and it co-ordinates with our Ovi™ salt container.

Milly™ Mess-free salt & pepper mill

Designed by Morph
Design registered

Styled to look like a salt & pepper shaker, this playful design turns the conventional salt & pepper mill on its head – literally.

To use, simply invert the unit and twist the base to grind. The extra-large holes in the cap allow the grounds to fall out, but when the unit is placed down, the cap helps capture and contain any excess salt or pepper.

A clear acrylic window in the body means you can see exactly what the contents are and when they are running low, and the unit is easy to fill and clean. Its tough, ceramic mechanism is also fully adjustable to grind from fine to coarse grain.

Available individually in a range of colours or as a black and white set.
